

Investing to ensure our energy future

The oil and natural gas industry's earnings make possible the massive investments critical to ensuring future energy supplies for all Americans. Since 1996, oil and natural gas companies have invested nearly $1.2 trillion on a range of long-term energy initiatives, from finding new oil and natural gas to expanding refinery capacity to developing emerging energy technologies.

It's all part of our long-term commitment to ensure America's energy future for generations to come.